THE ORIENT EXPRESS

A bold Bulgarian shepherd boy who looked so like a sheep. So gentle yet so sportive in his showy sheep herding. Lay down upon the railroad track and played he was asleep. To fool the engine driver on the Orient express.

The driver, who disdained to stay the ram upon the rail, Put on the brakes, reversed the wheels and turned his face away. The stoker stood beside him, for it seemed his heart would fail. Whereat the shepherd boy stood up and laughed and ran away.

Then came the Irish section boat the day the train came back. And pointed to a barrel of tar between the two. To which the boy lay down the tar upon the track.

Then the shepherd boy lay down the tar upon the track. Tricked through the whiskers of his robe he held him where he lay.

The driver could not bear the cry that swept the right of way. The gentleness of the shepherd, and his soul was filled with mirth. He lay down upon the track and lay down the tar upon the train.

MARVELOUS JENNY LIND

Interesting Reminiscences of the "Swedish Nightingale."

Among the most interesting of those of whom John Addington Symonds gives reminiscences in his recently published autobiography is Miss Jenny Lind Goldschmidt, of whom the image has faded away for the present generation, like that of all whose power was displayed on the ephemeral sphere of the stage. He gives a very charming account of this simple minded, gracious and womanly singer, who had the highest devotion to her art, saying, "I sing to God," and whose home life and manners were those of simple affection and womanliness. Jenny Lind had passed beyond the bloom of youth when Symonds saw her, and her marvelous voice was beginning to lose its power, but her artistic method was as pure as ever, and her expression as magical. The following is his impression of her singing:

"Miss Goldschmidt came on second in 'On Mighty Peaks.' She was quite in black and looked to me an old, worn lady, with a huge head and a small person. She wore no沉着 and her dress with its loose waist, reminded me of grandmamma's. At the first tones of her voice I quivered all over. It was not her wonderful execution, her pathos, varying expression, subtle inflexibility, that surprised me, but the pure timbre, which so vibrated and thrilled my very soul that it came into my eyes. The volume of tone she threw out and then diminished to a whisper, which put me into the moon, the dimmest and deepest shadows, the nightingale metallo strob, brilliant accents and floods of swift success notes I expected, but I had not realized such quality of voice."

He gives a charming picture of the home of the Goldschmidt at Oak Leaf, and this account of the aging歌唱家 singing to her bird is very graceful:

"A blackbird hung in a cage outside the door. Miss Goldschmidt went up and talked to it. 'Come, pretty bird, pretty, pretty little bird, do give us a little song.' We want to hear you sing so much, you pretty, pretty little bird.' In such a voice, as if that the bird, who had been shy at first, put down and came close to her and put its head on one side to listen. Then Miss Goldschmidt sang to it, and its long shake and high singing notes which made the bird most responsive. But he remained silent until she turned to go, and then he gave a loud, shrill chirrup as if to call her back." —Cincinatti Tribune.

—Living Stone of Falkland.

The most curious specimens of vegetable or plant life in existence are the so called "living stones" of the Falkland Islands. These islands are among the most cheerful spots in the world, being constantly subjected to a strong polar wind. In such a climate it is impossible for trees to grow erect, as they do in other countries, but nature has made amends by forming a supply of wood in the most curious shape imaginable. The visitor to the Falklands sees, scattered here and there, angular shaped blocks of what appears to be weather beaten and moss covered boulders of various sizes. Attempt to turn one of these "boulders" over, and you will meet with a surprise, because the supposed stone is actually anchored by roots of great strength. In fact, you will find that you are feeling with one of the native trees. No other country in the world has such a peculiar "forest" growth, in that it is said to be next to impossible to work the odd shaped blocks into fuel, because it is perfectly devoid of "grain," and appears to be nothing but a twisted mass of woody fibers.

It is said that the operetta of "Columbus Up to Date" as given by the Carson amateurs is immense. The music is catchy and popular and a fine entertainment is promised.

The literary exercises at the River side school will commence at 1 o'clock to-day, Thursday. Everybody is invited and an interesting program has been arranged for the occasion.

Robert Grimmon, wife and sister spent the day here yesterday. Mr. Grimmon goes to Truckee where he is now located, and Mrs. Grimmon and Miss M. Grimmon departed for the east.

About seventy Carson people will arrive on a special this evening a little after 6 o'clock. They compose the "Columbus Up to Date" party and will perform at the Opera House this evening.

If a tablespoonful of kerosene is put into four quarts of tepid water, and this is used in washing windows and mirrors, instead of pure water, there will remain upon the cleaned surface no polish of more friction can give.

CAPITAL NOTES.

Mint Sweepings—The Jones Examination and Things Connected Therewith—Nevada Colonization—Something Excellent in Theatricals. (Correspondence of the JOURNAL.) CARSON CITY, May 8, 1895.

Nothing especially new is likely to be developed in the Carson Mint problem investigation until Friday next, when the armistice or court recess ends and the examination of Jones is resumed. Meanwhile the shipments of unparted bullion from the mint to the San Francisco Mint have been continued, the last on Monday evening, amounting to about $250,000—4,500 pounds. But this is said to be the last until further orders from Washington—over $1,000,000 having been shipped.

In view of those latter shipments the counsel for the defense in the Jones case served a subpoena upon Superintendent Adams of the Mint, summoning him to appear before U. S. Commissioner Edwards on the 10th inst., next Friday, prepared to produce the bullion melts involved in the Mint settlements of 1893-94 which are considered of material interest in the Jones examination, and should not be recklessly or designedly shipped away.

As before remarked, nearly $6,000,000 in coin remains in the vaults of the Mint, also $500,000 in fine silver, which will be shipped somewhere, probably east, shortly. Preparations to that effect being already made or in progress.

THE JONES CASE.

When the Jones examination was adjourned a week ago yesterday, until the 10th inst., next Friday, the prosecution announced that it closed, or rested its case. But the prosecution can resume on Friday if it sees fit, from having meanwhile secured further and more important evidence. But the chances are not in favor of many days further trial. Should Commissioner Edwards in his capacity as U. S. Examining Magistrate conclude to bind Jones over to appear before the U. S. Grand Jury, which meets in August, he will have to file new bonds for his appearance. In case the Grand Jury should find a true bill of indictment against Jones, he will have to appear for trial in the U. S. Circuit Court next November. Thus it will be seen that although he may be completely cleared, in the end he will suffer from damaged fortune and reputation, with no recourse—pretty hard lines for him anyhow. Jones will probably return from his visit to San Francisco tomorrow, also Inspector Mason and others essential to the resumption of the examination.

A party, who claims to be pretty well posted, told me to-day that Heney was not in South Africa, but was where the prosecution can lay hands upon him and produce him in court when required. But that has been a stale sort of chestnut for weeks, Heney not materializing. There is one man in Carson who can find Heney and bring him here—for coin. But the prosecution has seemed rather slow and slack from the commencement. He left when he saw fit, and stays away on the same proposition.

GOOD FOR NEVADA.

W. E. Smythe, editor of the Irrigation Age, gave an excellent discourse this afternoon at the District Court room, principally upon the colonization of Nevada by people from the East. We can offer better arrangements in land, climate and general products than California or most anywhere on the Pacific Coast, and he presents excellent colonization schemes to that effect.

He is a very sensible, logical and convincing speaker, with good command of language, well supported by facts and figures. But as his address was taken down by a stenographer for publication, I need not refer further to it at present.

COLUMBUS UP TO DATE.

Was put on the stage at the Carson Opera House last evening in splendid style, and will be again to-night. It is the best thing in the theatrical line that has been seen here, in Reno or anywhere in this section for the last year or two at least. It is by the best local talent of Carson in the dramatic, singing and dancing variety line, over eighty gents, ladies and children appearing in it, but you will see it in Reno to-morrow evening and all who witness its presentation will full justify what I am saying of it.

A Sung Inheritance Awaiting Him James Smith will learn of a sung inheritance awaiting him by communicating with the undersigned. The James Smith wanted was the eldest child of Alexander Smith, who was lost with his wife, his sister and four or six children, at the burning of the steamship Golden Gate, on the Mexican Coast, July 27, 1892. James Smith was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and was a warehouse clerk in San Francisco in 1862. He is living, about 63 years old. In 1875 James Smith was in the eastern part of Nevada, and in Lincoln county and wrote to his friends in California to try and get him a clerkship in the Legislature. Address Record or H. E. Freudenthal, Pioche, Nevada.

CLINE EXCURSION.

The Senior class of the High School, accompanied by their teacher, Mrs. Doten, and Principal Bray, will visit Virginia Saturday on the invitation of the Senior class of the High School of that city. They will start at about 3:30 A. M., going by private conveyances, and will breakfast on the grade.

They expect to visit the mines and all of the various points of interest in and around Virginia and will return in the evening.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

A WAY TO PAY "BONDS."

An Act Defining Their Duties and Powers.

As the expenditures of the county are likely to exceed the receipts by many thousands of dollars for the current calendar year, unless there is retrenchment, several tax payers have requested the JOURNAL to publish the following amendments to sections 16 and 22 of "An Act to Create a Board of County Commissioners and to define their powers and duties."

Section 1. Section 16 of said Act be amended so as to read as follows:

Section sixteen. The Board of County Commissioners shall not for any purpose contract debts or liabilities, except those expressly authorized by law, and whenever debts or liabilities have been created, which added to the salaries of county officers and other estimated liabilities, fixed by law for the remainder of the year, shall equal the money on hand in the treasury at the time applicable to the payment of such salaries and said other liabilities, no allowance shall be made of any account, nor shall any expense be incurred other than salaries and fees and fixed liabilities, expressly authorized by law during the remainder of said year.

Section 2. That section 22 of said Act be amended so as to read as follows:

Section twenty-two. Any person being a resident and taxpayer of the county may appear before and file with the Board of County Commissioners of the county wherein he resides written objections to the allowance of any claim or claims, demands or demands against the county. Such objections in writing shall properly describe the claim or demands objected to, and the Board of County Commissioners shall file the same and embody such objections in the record of their proceedings, and lay such claims or demands on the table for a definite period of time, not less than ten days, at the expiration of which time they may proceed to consider the claims or demands so objected to, together with the objections, unless proceedings have been instituted in a court of competent jurisdiction to determine the validity of such claims or demands.

If the estimated liabilities, fixed by law for the remainder of the year equal the amount of money on hand in the treasury applicable to the payment of such fixed liabilities, then no allowance shall be made of any account nor shall any expense be incurred other than for fixed liabilities expressly authorized by law.

The courts have repeatedly decided that the Board of County Commissioners being creatures of the statute, have no powers except what are given them by the statute, therefore they have no authority to run the county in debt except for fixed liabilities, such as the payment of salaries, the maintenance of public institutions, support of the destitute etc.

IRRIGATION AND COLONIZATION.

W. E. Smythe to Lecture To-Morrow Night.

W. E. Smythe, editor of the Irrigation Age, of whose mission to this State the JOURNAL heretofore has informed its readers, will lecture in the court-house to-morrow (Friday) evening. He thoroughly understands irrigation. He is a gentleman who has ideas and knows how to express them. Dr. Bergstein and others who have heard him at Carson say he is full of his subject and is an interesting as well as instructive speaker. He takes a lively interest in developing the arid region, and hopes, that Nevada will interest itself in the matter. He likes the climate, knows that the soil is productive and is ambitious to get number of respectable and industrious families from the East settled in one of our fertile valleys. In this he should have the active co-operation of every Nevadan. It is the first time there has been opportunity offered the people of the State to get such a man interested. There is plenty of fertile land in the State and if the people will find a suitable tract at reasonable price be will assist in getting people to come here and improve it. Our citizens should turn out and hear him to-morrow night.

THE ORIGINAL ARYAN.
I am the ancient Aryan,
And you have done me wrong.
I did not come from Hindostan—
I've been here all along.

I never traveled from the east
In huge successive waves.
You'll find your ancestors deceased
Inside your own old caves.

There my remains may now be sought,
Mixed up with mastodons,
Which very long with flints I fought
Before I fought with bronze.

In similes I wrapped me round Until I learned to make My dwelling in the ground
Or reared them on a lake.

I had no pen, I'm sure of this,
Although you say I painted
All manner of them in Zion.
In Sanskrit and in Zend.

My nature you've misunderstood.
When first I sojourned here,
I worshipped chunks of stone or wood;
My rites were rather queer.

The more my little ways you scan
The less you'll care to praise
And bless the dear old Aryan
Of neolithic days.

They've mixed me up till, I declare,
I hardly can report
Whether I first was tall and fair,
Or I was dark and short.

But on two things I take my stand
Through all their noise and strife—
I didn't come from Asia, and I had no higher life.

—Punch.

RECEIVED BY A DUDE.

How a $3,500,000 Bid by an Unknown Man
Was Taken Seriously.

Samuel P. Schuckers died recently at Wooster, O. He was a brother of J.

W. Schuckers, private secretary of Salmon
P. Chase, and brother-in-law of John H. Oberly, ex-civil service commissioner. An interesting incident is recalled by Schuckers' death which has never found its way in the newspapers.

The incident occurred a number of years ago, and during the time of the sale of the Lake Shore railroad at Cleveland it happened that Schuckers and John Mc-

Sweeney, the great criminal lawyer, met at the sale. McSweeney had but a short time before made a great hit by his political speeches at Cleveland and Philadelphia and was attracting attention all over the country. At this particular time he was trying a case at Cleveland. Young Schuckers was in these days a veritable dud and very spruce.

He went to Cleveland to have a time, as he always left Wooster to celebrate, and was having a good, glorious time on this particular occasion. He was small and very in stature and always carried a little umbrella. It happened that he met McSweeney in the rotunda just as he had finished an argument and while the sale of the Lake Shore railroad was going on. They stopped for a moment at the edge of the excited crowd bidding in the road. There were a number of syndicates represented—foreign, Vanderbills, Goulds and others. The bidding had reached $3,100,000. In a spirit of devilishness young Schuckers bid

$3,500,000. In a moment a rush was made toward the new bidder, and a du-man was made to know what syndicate he represented. His only reply was, with a wave of his silk umbrella,

"Go away from me."

The excited representatives of the other syndicates asked for a recess, which was granted, and in 20 minutes they came back, when the bid was raised to $4,000,000 and sold.

Mr. Schuckers' spruce appearance and being in company with the great criminal lawyer had led them to believe he represented some secret syndicate who were trying to gain possession of the valuable railroad property.—Cincinnati

Napoleon's Memory.

Napoleon had a wonderful memory.

When emperor, he once surprised his council with his intimate knowledge of Roman law and was asked how he had obtained it. He stated that when a Henton had once been placed under arrest and was in prison for two weeks.

During that time the only book at his command was a treatise on Roman law.

He sat down and in two weeks mastered the volume so completely that 20 years later he could repeat long passages from its pages. He never forgot a face or a name and would often greet private sol-diars by their names, sometimes alluding to the march or the battle where he had seen them before. He kept in his head all the details of his military movements, and it was said of him that during the march to Italy and Marengo

he knew where every pound of the supplies for the use of the army was located.

It is said that he remembered the name of every officer to whom he ever issued a commission.

Orderly Music.

A colonel in the French army, who had a great eye for neatness, but not much of an ear for music, took occasion

one day to compliment his bandmaster on the appearance of his men. "Their uniforms are neat," said the colonel,

"and their instruments are nicely polished and kept in order, but there is one improvement that I must insist upon."

What is it, colonel?

"You must train your men, when they perform, to lift their fingers all at exactly the same time and at regular intervals on their instruments, so—one, two! One, two!"—London Answers.

Sure to Be the Case.

"I can't tell you," said the experienced suburbanite in reply to the question of his new neighbor, "when the next train goes, but I can tell you what your chances of catching it are."

"What are they?" inquired the new neighbor eagerly.

"Well, if you run as hard as you can," said the experienced resident,

"you have 15 minutes to wait, and if you merely walk, you'll find the train just pulling out."—Chicago News.
